

Discover ▾

Log in | Sign up

Eye of Eternity

👁 159 ✓ 5 ★ 11

Chapter 1 by Jayde Avalon

Waste time. Kill time. Lose time. Save time. Take time. Leave time. Time-honored. All-time.

Time.

People tend to wonder what, exactly, time is. Clearly, it exists; no doubt about it. But what is it really? Is it just a concept to represent the progress of life and everything around it? Can it be consumed, like space? Can it be compressed, like air? What happens to lost time? Does it go somewhere? What if time could be reversed; would things really be the same as they were left by time? What would life be like without time? Could life even be?

Seeking answers, I traveled to a mythical realm called the Eye of Eternity. The concept behind this strange dimension is that it exists squarely in the middle of eternity itself; time passes infinitely while holding infinitely still. History is lived simultaneously with the present and the future. Time is a legend here; a myth. Nobody grows older or even younger; people just happen to be there, with no logical explanation for their existence. The timeless dimension resides in a parallel of earth, with plant life that never took time to grow, pollution that never happened over time, seasons that don't take 3 months to turn, days that never pass, a past that hasn't passed, a present that will always be, and a future that never has yet to come. It takes no time to get there, but unfortunately, you

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

So how did I?

I didn't.

You see, we're both in the Eye of Eternity.

And now, then, and soon we have no time to find a timeless method of returning to the present that by now is past and has become the future instead without consuming time we don't have to consume.

Before our own world collapses in the torn space-time vortex.

Time(less) to go.

Chapter 2 by Spirit

However, I had no idea where to start. In a world without time, how would I have time to escape? I didn't, or did I? How can you not have the time if there was no time to have in the first place. You couldn't waste your time here, you couldn't use it either. But you couldn't prevent yourself from doing it either, as time had never existed, and therefore you didn't have the time to choose.

Here, everything happened at once, because there was no time, so nothing could happen at any other time. What was going to happen had already happened and what had happened was happening. The improbable happened just as much as the probable because there was no time to measure how often different events occurred, and as a result everything was just as likely as anything else. How could it be time to go, if there was to time? I couldn't start going, because I did not have the time, but at the same time I did have all of the time. Because all of the time was none of the time, and none of the time was all of the time.

Technically I have left this world an infinite number of times, because there was no time to have to do it in the future, as the future was technically now, and the past was technically now as well. However, did now even exist? Wasn't now a phrase made to specify a point in time? If there was no time, there would be no now to specify, so now would be the same as later and later would be now. So, I also had been entering the eye for an infinite amount of time, or no time. I was continually at every point in time, as I was not in any point of my journey at any time.

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

But as they say, time rolled on. Or, more accurately, time rolled backwards, forwards, sideways, and stayed at a complete stop for the entire time it rolled, which was no time. Time to stop rolling never came, but time to start rolling didn't either. It was all just a matter of time, or no time, or all time.

Chapter 3 by Jayde Avalon

Look up at that hologram in the sky. The one of earth. See it? Now see that hole that looks kind of like a bleeding cut?

That's the rip in space-time because the Eye of Eternity shouldn't actually exist. The "blood" is a gravitational void acting like a black hole. And, yes, it's trying to swallow our planet

How are we going to save it?

We aren't, at least not by ourselves. We need a team. And we're traveling through Phantasia...

What's Phantasia? Oh goodness, we don't have the time...basically it's the dimension where all things thought and imagined reside. It's basically the whole world's—in fact, the whole universe's—imagination in a tangible world.

Anyway, we're traveling through Phantasia to collect a team to save our home, so hop in and buckle your seatbelt.

First stop, the Star Wars realm.

Write a draft for chapter 4 of 8 (1 draft)

❗ You need to login before writing - click here

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

Write a comment...

About

Rooms

Feedback

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account